Represents the change in value from January 2014 to January 2016.

This table shows only the total combined value of land and improvements (buildings) if they are valued as a unit, using either a comparable sales or income approach to value.

*Geocode or property ID is the unique identifier for this property.

The tax amount(s) shown is only an estimate of your general property taxes for 2017 based upon the 2016 millage rate (as determined by your local government each September) where your property is located. Your property may be subject to your local government's special assessments and fees in addition to your general taxes. Review your previous tax bill or contact your county treasurer's office for more information about special assessments and fees.
